Shopping for a Story

Are you waiting for inspiration...or is inspiration waiting for you?

Sometimes a random group of words are all you need to kickstart a story. Let's go around class and bargain hunt for the right words. Try to fill each box with at least three options.

A Place

An Object

A Loud Sound

A Piece of Clothing

A Food

Now you have options. Pick one word from each of the categories and imagine how they might fit together. Try different combinations. There isn't a right or wrong, just many stories waiting for you.
